

CHARGES AGAINST JACKSON WILL BE SENT TO ALBANY

Governor and Legislature to Get Presentment of Grand Jury.

LOSES FIGHT IN COURT.

Fails to Have Expunged Testimony Regarding Action in Bank Receiverships.

Attorney-General Jackson failed today to have the presentment reflecting upon him as a public officer, which the Grand Jury handed down last Monday, expunged from the records of the Court of General Sessions. The presentment and the evidence taken by the Grand Jury upon which it is based will be forwarded to-night to Albany, comes going to Gov. Hughes, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly.

If the Governor believes that Attorney General Jackson and his office should be investigated, or if the Assembly believes that an investigation should be made, a committee undoubtedly will be appointed to go over all of the Attorney-General's action in connection with the bank failures of last fall.

Former Corporation Counsel William R. Ellison represented the Attorney-General in the proceedings before Judge Foster and the arguments took up most of the court day.

Jerome Opposes Him.

District-Attorney Jerome appeared to oppose the motion to set aside the presentment and made no secret of his desire to have Gov. Hughes and the Legislature take action upon it.

In support of his motion the Attorney-General submitted a long affidavit and Mr. Ellison spoke at length. District-Attorney Jerome cheerfully turned over to Mr. Ellison the Grand Jury minutes containing the evidence upon which the presentment is based.

Briefly stated, Mr. Ellison's contention was that the Grand Jury exceeded its powers in handing down the presentment because there was no evidence that a crime had been committed.

"The Grand Jury," said Mr. Ellison, "is empowered only to investigate for the purpose of seeing if a crime has been committed or for the purpose of finding an indictment if a crime has been committed. In this case there was no evidence that a crime had been committed. The Grand Jury knew that it would not be warranted in finding an indictment. I did not intend to prepare the veiled presentment, because there was no evidence to warrant it."

Based on White's Testimony. "The only evidence offered to show that there was anything wrong in the conduct of the Attorney-General, was that of Frank White, who acted as receiver of the Hamilton Bank and made no charge. He said the Attorney-General spoke to him of some one getting half the receivership fees. There was no proof that such a conversation had taken place or that the evidence given was true."

District-Attorney Jerome maintained that the Grand Jury was within its rights in finding the presentment, and that the court was bound to carry out the purpose of the Grand Jury, which was to bring the Attorney-General and his office to the attention of the Governor and Legislature. The court upheld Mr. Jerome in all his contentions.

CRUISER'S TRIAL PACE SLOW.

Builders May Decide to Make Alterations in the Montana.

ROCKLAND, Mo., April 2.—In high winds and heavy seas the armored cruiser Montana went over the Rockland trial course yesterday and made her fastest mile with the tide in her favor, at 22 1/2 knots an hour. The average of her five runs at top speed was 22.03. This gives such a small margin over the contract requirements that the builders, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, were in doubt whether to proceed with the endurance trial or have the high pressure valves altered to allow more power.

Wolf Hounds and Wagon-Sled From Alaska Ending Journey at City Hall

(Photographed for The Evening World by a Staff Artist.)

DOGS DREW HIM FROM ALASKA TO SEE McCLELLAN

Ely Smith Ends Long Trip at City Hall, With His Hounds "All In."

Ely Smith, with his seven wolf hounds attached to a combination sled and wagon, rolled into town today and pulled up at the City Hall. There the Mayor signed a document stating that Ely Smith and his dogs arrived at high noon April 2, and when Smith waved the paper at the panting hounds they barked and pranced gleefully.

They had a right to bark with joy, for the animals had hauled Smith and his wonderful wagon-sled all the way from Nome, Alaska.

"And it was on a wagon of $10,000, too, that he made the trip," said the press agent.

"Ah, what's in it for me if I give the papers a story? I am broke and used some coin to pay expenses," Smith said to the reporters.

No matter the press agent's embellished yarn, Smith looked in need of funds. For two and half years he has been travelling across the Continent, New York being his objective. His last important stop was at Washington, where he had a talk with the President on nature faking and other things. The President patted the wolf hounds and praised Smith for his hardiness.

When the outfit dashed into City Hall Park today the intelligent dogs, controlled in movement only by Smith's voice, came to a halt. Smith leaped from his nondescript land craft, stretched his legs, yawned and gave a "Whoop-ee" loud enough to be heard to the Battery. The dogs obediently prostrated themselves ranting.

"I am going back West by train next week," said Smith. "It was a tough trip, and I had lots of adventures. These dogs are wonders. They could kill a dozen horses each with work. Their wheels on my schooner are adjustable, so when I take 'em off, the wagon is a sled."

"We got over ice and snow, and mud and prairie, and I've been years making the trip. I made Washington, getting a job on the result, and I have been touring ever since. I am through now, and I'll take the dogs back to the Nome country. They like it best there. So do I."

SHOT WIFE AS SHE SLEPT. THEN KILLED HIMSELF.

NEW LONDON, April 2.—William F. M. Rogers, at one time brigade major and officer of the State of Connecticut, killed his wife and took his own life early today at his home in Washington street. From the position of the bodies it was evident that Mrs. Rogers was shot while she was asleep, and her husband then fired a shot into his mouth and fell across the bed dead.

Death in both cases was apparently instantaneous. No one beside the couple was in the house.

Mr. Rogers was formerly judge of probate for the district of New London and for several years prosecuting attorney of this city. He studied law with ex-Gov. Waller and was admitted to the bar twenty-five years ago tomorrow. It is presumed that despondency was the cause of the act. Mr. Rogers was for a long time prominent in Connecticut National Guard affairs, and was in the signal corps in Porto Rico during the Spanish-American war.

LA CASCAGNE DELAYED.

Ticket Holders Not Informed That They Reached Pier.

La Casagone of the French Line, was advertised to sail today. Upwards of a hundred first-class passengers were told as they drove up to the pier that owing to a derangement in the machinery the liner would not leave until tomorrow.

As none of these persons had received any intimation of the delay there was a lot of fussing and protesting. Agent Fougere told them that all who cared to do so might remain aboard until sailing time tomorrow, and a number from out of town availed themselves of the offer and took possession of the liner.
